

The Illogian xxx

Its name is the Illogian. It has four wings and a long blue snout. It has talons and a big yellow beak. It is enormous. It lives in the ocean but it can stay out of the water for ten minutes. You can see the Illogian in the Pacific because it is hotter than the other oceans. It is herbivorous because it mainly eats grass and leaves. It does not eat other foods because they can cause diseases. It can spit fire to attack its prey. It can shrink or become bigger. It is much less aggressive than the Thunderbird but it is much smarter than the Demiguise. It is not very dangerous and very easy to approach but it is very protective of its babies and its eggs.
