X X X X

The Silum is a monster. It is covered with pink tentacles on its back, stomach and torso. It has the shape of a monkey. It has sharp fangs, wings on its back and white fur on its arms, legs and head. This animal is extremely tall but furtive. It lives in South American forests, in Amazonia. It is carnivorous because it eats and it loves meat even if it not cruel. It can see in the dark because it hunts, camouflages itself and flies at night. It is taller than the Acromantula but less aggressive. If humans attack it, it can be extremely dangerous but it is not aggressive by nature.
