

The Dikease XX

The Dikease is one of the fantastic beasts. It has two horns and a long grey tail. It also has four paws and claws on them. It is not so big, because it is the size of a cat.

It lives in the desert, or rather, in the Arctic polar desert, in Norway. It eats fish because there is almost nothing to eat in the desert, and it goes fishing in the Atlantic Ocean.

It is dangerous because it can paralyse its prey and freeze it. But it is not very aggressive and it is friendly.

The Dikease is more beautiful than the Demiguise, and it is less dangerous than the Thunderbird.
