

Letter for Newt

The SCARTFIELD XXX

Dear Newt,

My name is Yakoub and I have sent you this letter to share my new discovery of a fantastic beast with you.

Its name is the Scartfield.

It has four enormous wings and a really long snout. It has big blue eyes and red ears.

It is a huge beast. It is thirty-one meters tall.
It has red scales and grey fangs.

It lives in mountains, in the state of Montana, in the United States of America.

It is a herbivorous beast because it eats grass, leaves and some plants which grow in caves. They enable it to have another capacity: become super fast.

It can see in the dark and fly with its four enormous wings.

It is heavier than the Nundu and less aggressive than the Acromentula.

The Scartfield is not very dangerous because it is herbivorous so it does not attack humans, but the only reason it is dangerous is that it is thirty-one meters tall so it can destroy a city easily.

I wish you all the best in your future endeavours.

Take care,

Yakoub
