

The treasure hunt

Once upon a time, in a kingdom ruled by a king a princess was so elegant that as soon as a man saw her he immediately fell under her spell.

A frog was madly in love with the princess but the princess did not like him. But the frog was ready to do everything to have her heart. The king did not like to see the sad frog so he decided to organize a treasure hunt for all the suitors to have a chance with the princess

The treasure hunt finally began! All the pretenders were prepared to leave. The poor boy left for the enchanted forest, the frog left for the lake and the gingerbread man left for sand pit.

The frog found the mage who told him to go north-east of the big tree and he would find the second card for the final quest. Meanwhile, the poor boy and the gingerbread fought because they believed that the chest was below them but the chest was not there. The frog with a lot of advance found the big tree and found the second card on the tree. The frog left in the direction of the knight to confront him. Both contestants came to a standstill because no one lost. The frog found the knight but he was too impressive for him but the frog had a brilliant idea. The frog rushed to his head and the knight put a sword on his head which put him out of harm's way. The frog won the treasure hunt. The king gave him the chest and he kissed the princess and immediately the frog changed into a prince.

A few months later the prince married the princess and they lived happily ever after. And had many children.

Crowns