

The treasure

By Nans—Pierre—Enzo

Once upon a time, there was a poor boy. His name was Borgas. He was very poor. His dream was to become the richest pirate in the world.

One day, Borga met a poor but very crafty girl named Liline. She knew about a treasure island so they left in a boat. In this boat, there was a bean. When Borgas ate the bean he got powers but he couldn't swim. In the sea, they met a monster named Nessie. It attacked their boat with its tail. But Borgas used his powers and defeated Nessie.

Then, they arrived on the treasure island, they saw a castle which was very colourful. In the castle there was knight. His name was Rozo and he was the strongest knight in the world. The poor boy and Liline asked the knight to join their crew. He accepted.

They all went in the Black Forest. In the forest, there a navy guard. He was stronger than Nessie but more stupid. He attacked Borgas and his friends in front of the cave but the knight killed him. They moved forward in the forest and saw the treasure behind a big giant. When the giant saw Borgas and his friends he laughed and ate two pigs. But he underestimated Borgas who punched him in the stomach. Thanks to his powers this blow was fatal to the giant who died, Borgas took the treasure and left the island with Liline and the knight. They were very proud and they lived happily ever after.

The end.